about 700 Indian fishermen, including from Kerala, are in Pakistan's custody. Nationality of 266 of these fishermen, who were granted consular access in March, 2004, has been confirmed. Consular access for the others has been sought.

Government, through diplomatic channels, have been consistently taking up the matter of early release and repatriation of the Indian fishermen with Pakistan. The issue was also raised during the meeting between the Foreign Ministers of the two countries in New Delhi on September 5-6, 2004; and again during the recent visit of the Prime Minister of Pakistan to New Delhi on November 23-24, 2004.
